

A wide-angle photograph of a dry, open landscape under a clear sky. The ground is a mix of light brown soil and sparse, dry grass. Several trees with green and yellowish leaves are scattered across the scene. In the foreground, two riders on horseback are moving from left to right. The rider in front is on a dark brown horse, and the rider behind is on a white horse. Both riders are wearing dark clothing and hats. The overall atmosphere is serene and rural.
